History

The city of Thane is situated on the western banks of Thane creek with Parsik hills on the east and Yeour hills on the west. The creek not only provides a natural protection to the place but has also facilitated transport of big and small ships since ancient times. This has also acted as an impetus for the development of local and international trade since the pre-historic times. Besides being the stamping ground of the pre-historic tribes, Thane city has a rich cultural heritage, mythological background, followed by a large number of events of historical importance, archeological collectives that have contributed to the enrichment of the history of Thane city.

The existence of Thane city appears in the global history since the 9th century A.D. The city was then known as Shreesthanak. It was more popularly known as the Capital of the Shilahar dynasty. The history of Thane city can be broadly categorized into 5 eras.

- 1 Vedic period to 1300 A.D. : Comprising of Hindu or ancient period, Aparant, Shilahar and Bimba Dynasty.
- 2 1300-1660 A.D. : Mohamedan and Portuguese Rule.
- 3 1660-1800 A.D. : Maratha and Portuguese Rule.
- 4 1800-1947 A.D. : British Rule.
- 5 1947-till date : Post Independence Thane.
